SK Asbestos Awareness

Asbestos materials are a potentially serious workplace hazard, and people who inhale asbestos fibres are at risk of developing critical, often fatal, illnesses. The SCSA is now providing a course where participants can learn to recognize and manage asbestos-related risks in the workplace. Read More

Workplace Fatalities Trending Lower

"Tragically, another 22 lives were lost this year in Saskatchewan workplaces," said Phil Germain, Vice-President, Prevention and Employer Services. "But this is not about a number. These are fathers and mothers, sisters, brothers, parents and children whose lives have been cut short and the impact to families and their communities is forever life altering." Read More

Every year, the SCSA is proud to honour individuals, companies, and committees, for their commitment to promoting effective health and safety management systems in the residential and commercial building construction industry in Saskatchewan. The SCSA presents these awards at the SCSA Annual General Meeting in February. All award recipients also receive recognition in various SCSA online and offline publications and promotions, including the SCSA Safety Advocate and Saskatchewan Business magazine.
