#SafetyDoneRight

We see it all the time . . . #SafetyDoneRight but we rarely take the time to acknowledge the significance of working safely. At the SCSA, we know that there is a return on your safety investment when you and your staff go home safe at the end of the day. This is your chance to give credit to those employees championing safety in your organization.

For those in the construction industry in Saskatchewan, we want you to post the pictures of your company and/or your employees working safely. Use the hashtag #SafetyDoneRight and tag us on Facebook or on Twitter @SCSAonline for a chance to receive SCSA swag and see #SafetyRewarded. "Like" our Facebook page and "follow" us on Twitter so that we can shine a spotlight on your company and its commitment to safety. Read More

NAOSH Event Summary

This year marked the 20th anniversary of North American Occupational Safety and Health (NAOSH) Week (May 7-13, 2017) with NAOSH Activities throughout Saskatchewan that were bigger and better than ever before!

At the Children's Hospital of Saskatchewan construction site in Saskatoon over $1000 was raised and donated to the Threads of Life. See some pictures from the event here.

In Regina, SCSA Safety Advisors conducted several demonstrations, including the Fall Protection Demo, the Head Protection Demo, the Eye Protection Demo, and the Hand Protection Demo. See them here.

The Gull Lake Advance reported on the activities in Swift Current, where Nichole Faucher, former Make It Right crew member on the Holmes on Homes TV show, made an appearance. Read the article here and pictures here.

A special thank you to everyone who helped to make this the best NAOSH Week yet!

Eight Annual Saskatchewan Health & Safety Leadership Charter Event

On June 8, 2017, the leaders of 23 Saskatchewan organizations declared their commitment to the health and safety of their employees and communities, by adding their names to the group of business, government, union, and community leaders who have signed the Saskatchewan Health & Safety Leadership Charter since its inception in 2010.
